Major-General Chase Kennedy Modifies General Orders No. 26

PASSES ARE TO BE ISSUED

CANNOT ENTER THE KALDOONS

Where Intoxicants Are Sold—President Porras Will Issue Decree in Day or Two

Military Order No. 26 which has been in effect since June, 1918, which barred officers and men of the United States Army and Navy from entering the cities of Panama and Colon will be modified...

Commander of the Panama Canal Department, and will permit Army officers and men to enter the cities on Saturday, July 20, at noon.

A decree will be issued in a day or two by President Porras, which will define the intoxicating beverages to be sold by saloon and hotel keepers, and where such intoxicants are allowed to be sold.

The order which has been issued by Major-General Kennedy, strictly stipulates that officers, field clerks and enlisted men in whose good conduct entire confidence can be placed will be granted permanent passes, good for any time when not on duty.

The order provides for temporary passes on white paper, for officers and enlisted men, for periods not in excess of twenty-four hours, but generally not to extend beyond the day of issue, and may be granted by Post Commanders in their discretion. All holders of such passes are to wear their identification tags.

As the laws and decrees of the Republic of Panama prohibit furnishing intoxicating liquor to United States soldiers in uniform, no passes will authorize the men holding them to enter places maintained for the sale of intoxicating liquors as a beverage. This prohibition does not, however, include restaurants, clubs and like places where the sale of drinks is confined to so-called soft drinks, or such places, as shall be declared by the decrees or regulations of the Republic of Panama where the sale of drinks are declared to be non-intoxicant.

The order is issued in order that well behaved officers and men may have as much liberty as possible and in the expectation that the men holding passes will not do anything to bring discredit upon themselves, their uniform or their country. Commanding Officers are urged to give careful personal attention to the selection of men to whom they issue passes, and to take such steps as may be necessary to make certain that men will not leave their posts on pass unless neatly and appropriately dressed.

Fate of His Vast Holdings of Real Estate in Germany Cause of Trouble

Amroingen, July 13.—The former German Emperor has been found to be in financial straits with his vast holdings in the former imperial states and lands in Germany since the Hohenzollern abdication.

The former Emperor is not short of money, as he possessed a considerable amount in deposits in Holland before the war began. This was added to approximately 1,000,000,000 marks were in progress. During the few stirring weeks preceding his abdication, William and his followers transferred further large sums in cash.

But William is troubled as to the fate of his real estate. He possessed no fewer than fifty-five castles, hunting boxes and country seats scattered over the empire. The revenues of these properties are for the present at least in the hands of the new government, which shortly has paid from their proceeds all their Hohenzollern bills. These amounts have been quite formidable as the Imperial refuge is called upon to pay for everything he consumes, as well as for his accommodation and the upkeep of his suite, besides paying the wages of the gardeners and domestics of the Benzlück estate who render him services while wood-cutting or in the household.

FALLOF BASTILLE ITALIAN REDS TO GO ON A TWO-DAY PROTEST STRIKE

Paris, July 14, 1789. Day France Was Liberated From Serfdom

Camille Desmoulins, mounting a wheelbarrow in the Jardin du Palais-Royal on a Sunday evening in July, 1789, made the speech which was the birth of liberty in France. Two days later, July 11, the Bastille fell. Desmoulins was a count-claiming young lawyer in Paris, who because he had no clients because he could not speak distinctly. He stuttered. In this he was like the spirit of French Liberty itself, which also was marvellously slow to speak. But on the night of that day two miracles were to pass. The first gave eloquence to Desmoulins. The second gave the people of France to utter the never again to be silenced.

Peace Treaty Considered Attempt by Allies to Suffocate Bolshevism, Is Claimed

By the Associated Press

Rome, July 13. The Intransigent Socialists have published a manifesto proclaiming a general strike on July 20 and July 21 as a protest against the peace treaty, which is considered an attempt by the Allies to suffocate Bolshevism in Russia and Hungary.

The manifesto says: "The workmen of France will go likewise, and their intention of bringing to bear the powerful action of their trade unions. The workmen of Switzerland, Holland, Denmark and Sweden will also join the movement, and thus the flag of the Internationale will be unfurled against the new proletarian crimes of the bourgeoisie."

The manifesto is also signed by the general confederation of labor.

To counteract the effects of the manifesto, the Socialists of the Italian Union, comprising the moderate elements, have issued a circular according to the general strike but warning the workmen that the British parliament will not join the strike, although its government has the greatest cause for intervention in Russia, and that the French strike will be against the high cost of living, and not against intervention in Russia and Hungary.

EXILES RETURN TO CITY OF LENS

Paris, July 13. Lens, the most thoroughly devastated town of the war, is showing signs of revival. When an Associated Press correspondent visited this archaic busy coal mining center of the department of the Pas de Calais early this year, it still looked as though a set of giant steel hammers had pounded the whole place to atoms. To the west of it was the grim and forbidding towers, which has the appearance of a pitifully overgrown village. The soil has been plowed up in an extraordinary manner by thousands of poisonous gas bombs, which have killed the sparse vegetation by a single spray.

Before the war, Lens had about 40,000 inhabitants. When the correspondent visited the locality in its state of hopeless desolation, there were only three sturdy optimistic left who led a cave men's existence among the ruins. Their nearest neighbor had been built twenty miles away, and there was no transportation.

Things have been mending since today about 3,000 of the exiled inhabitants have returned.

The object of the meeting was to consider the construction of a network of military highways within the province of Panama and to open on both sides of the Panama canal territory. The plan proposed by the engineers provide for about 500 miles of roads and will be constructed of concrete. These roads will not only be used for military and strategic purposes, but will also be open to public traffic in accordance with the wishes of the American authorities to aid in every manner possible the industrial development of the Republic of Panama.

It is understood that efforts will be made to avoid all cultivated lands in the construction of the roads, but in the event of it being necessary to go through cultivated sections which these roads will traverse, arrangements will previously be entered into with the owners.

As a result of the meeting the Ministers of Foreign Affairs and of Government and Justice, decided to extend to the United States military authorities, the nation's wholehearted cooperation in order to expedite the plan under consideration. Already the Minister of Government and Justice has addressed a circular letter to the mayors, sheriffs and justices of the towns, villages and hamlets in the regions embraced by the road construction program, informing them of the project and instructing them to lend their contingents to the commission of engineers who will shortly begin the surveys for these roads.

The network of roads proposed comprises a square area between the Atlantic and Pacific coasts with terminal points at San Miguel de la Barba, Porto Bello, Chono and Chame. Within these points other roads will be constructed, longitudinally and transversally connecting the principal ports within the strategic square.

The expenditure which the construction of these roads will entail will be borne exclusively by the United States.

KELLY, K. OF C.

By DAMON RUNYON

HEM was a fellow, knee-high to a loak, And wearing a two-foot grin. Who waddled along the Choppy road With the good old First, going in— A red-faced fellow with iron-gray hair— He wasn't so young, y' see.

"Who is the guy?" I says to Kildare. "Why, you damn recruit," says he. "That's Kelly, K. C.," says he. "And a wonderful guy!" says he.

"Knights of Columbus, you mean?" says I. "I'm one of the Baptist boys," Big Kildare says, as he gives me the eye; "Where do y' get that noise?" "Baptist, Methodist, or A. P. A., Whatever the hell you be, You're one of the gang to get, and, say, You damn recruit," says he. "Meet Kelly! Hi, Kelly! Kelly, K. C.," says he.

And later I saw him all over the lot, Still wearing that two-foot grin. Billees, or trenches—and some blamed hot— An Irishman Gunga Din. There wasn't no transport for guns or chow, But always a smoke for me— How did he do it? I don't know how. But Kildare, he says, says he, "He's a pal of the Lord's, you damn recruit— And a wonderful pal," says he.

There was a fellow with me for a load (And say, I'm not very thin) Who waddled along the Choppy road Getting a two-foot grin— A red-faced fellow with iron-gray hair, And me with a busted knee. "A hell of a pair!" says old Kildare. "And what is the laugh?" says he. "He's telling some Irish jokes to me On Kelly," says I, K. C.

It is all very fine to talk of good manners, diplomatic usage, the peace of the world, the League of Nations, the Allied nations here were openly incensed when they read in some of the foreign dispatches that, once the treaty of Versailles had been signed, allies and enemies would be together as if in the land of the living.

It was not so. Peace descended upon a world torn by five years of agony when the representatives of the League of Nations met in Versailles.

Contracting parties, the peace of the world, the League of Nations, the Allied nations here were openly incensed when they read in some of the foreign dispatches that, once the treaty of Versailles had been signed, allies and enemies would be together as if in the land of the living.

Particular significance is attached to the President's intention to go west. He has apparently been kept well informed as to the situation in that part of the United States.

The Shantung decision has caused considerable disappointment where there was a disposition to favor a League of Nations, but where now there is hesitation to subscribe to a covenant which, it is said, would perpetuate an injustice.

Among the people of the far west especially, need to be assured as to the extent to which the League of Nations will have power to control the work of men and women from the Orient. Republican leaders, it was said, would not be convinced that a stamping tour by the President would be a sufficient indication of the sentiment of the people on the issue before the Senate.

After the declaration of the country Germany has signed and ratified the peace treaty. Now it is up to the German people to silence their extreme officers and junkies and their male soldiers by their honest and unselfish actions.

One of the hardest blows ever given the parents of the Canal Zone is the announcement that the school appropriation for the coming year had been heavily cut, and a consequent reduction in branches of study and the number of teachers employed would be necessary.

There can be no criticism of the officials of the Canal Zone in regard to the contemplated reductions, but there surely must have been a gross misunderstanding or gross ignorance on the part of those congressmen who slashed the school appropriation in the endeavor to make a record so that they can go home and pose before their constituents as saviors of the United States from bankruptcy.

The action of the mothers of the Canal Zone in holding meetings of this kind is opportune, and it is hoped that every mother will attend the meetings which will be held today at Ancon, Walla, and other points.

Colombians have had their eyes opened by the work done by the clerics who have gone to Buenos Aires with the engineers who are building the government wharf at that place.

The work of the thirty-one laborers brought from Panama by the contractor for the wharf, Mr. Nelson for work on the construction is most surprising. Under the direction of their foremen they have discharged millions of water and placed it in good order in the storehouse in a half day.

TO ELIMINATE SPANISH IN ZONE SCHOOLS

Editor of the Star and Herald: Dear Sir: I have been informed that the Spanish language is one of the various subjects that will be eliminated from the curriculum of the Canal Zone schools next year. According to my information, the Division of Schools has suffered quite a large reduction in its appropriation, and as it has been planned not to teach Spanish, manual training, music, penmanship and domestic science. It seems that such a step will place the standard of Canal Zone schools at least six years behind the times. At present the Spanish language is looked upon as the most important foreign language for Americans. It seems strange that while they are beginning to teach Spanish in the majority of the schools in the United States, they should give it up on the Isthmus, breaking the connecting link with the Latin Americans.

Letter Addressed by the Minister of Ecuador in Washington to Prof. A. Bushnell Hart, of Harvard University, Refuting Parts of His Book on the Monroe Doctrine of you a loyal declaration of the respective statements.

And, since I am speaking of your book, it will not be amiss to take the liberty of noting some expressions that directly affect my country.

Your severity with regard to your own country has, indeed, made no kind of exception as to foreign countries.

Such a question demands the answer, "None." And this means the alteration of the moral law, substituting it for the idea of numbers.

Most of them, the Latin American countries, are unable to set up any kind of government of their own which will last more than a year or two.

I take it for granted that you do not refer to the form of government, and if you allude to the instability of the Latin American governments this is at least an exaggeration.

Table with 2 columns: Country Name and Population. Includes Brazil, Mexico, British Possessions, Argentina, Colombia, Peru, Chile, Venezuela, Bolivia, Cuba, Honduras, Nicaragua, Costa Rica, Panama, Dutch Possessions, Danish Possessions.

If because of a population of one and a half million Ecuador occupies the fourteenth place among the republics and possessions...

The mountain country you refer to is Ecuador, but I cannot father what you call the others that, with Paraguay, should appear in the group.

Neither can I understand in what political category you wish to place at least six American republics that have zealously preserved their independence for more than a century.

How much attention will be paid to the public opinion and aspirations of Santo Domingo and Ecuador and Costa Rica?

On page 121 I read the following: "The alien creditor, who lives in Europe or the United States is created often with much the same self-hand denial of his rights."

Never, so far, has occurred the instance of a weak country victimizing the creditors of powerful nations.

The differences between the day-employment and the railway company, which differences represent to Ecuador a much greater value than the three years' interest of the bonds guaranteed by the Government.

In the less developed countries the executive changes often and it is difficult to carry out treaties.

It is not my intention to discuss the conduct of other countries among Ecuador when you are among the least developed.

The boat was built in England in 1901, and was on the coast later in 1901 it was bought by the Colombian Government for the president as his special battleship.

After four months on the way the ship was put in commission again with a crew of 30 men and the following officers who brought it into this port: Captain Heintzelman, first officer; B. Santos, second officer; A. J. Elberfeld, chief engineer; D. A. Rynd, first assistant; H. Gamba, second assistant; and W. Goucher, third assistant.

The boat left Atlantic Highlands on June 29 with a cargo of dynamite, by way of Cuba, for Central and South American ports.

On the morning of the 3rd of July, about 9:30 the boat sprung a leak in the fore room which could not be overcome even though the bilge pumps were put to work immediately, and the captain gave orders to lighten the boat by throwing overboard some of the cargo.

Through the quick action of the chief engineer, who with the aid of the crew kept the men below and at their posts, the drag anchor was set overhead about 1:30 p.m. but as it proved valueless the anchor was cut loose.

The Cartagena, after drifting around and not being able to stop, the crew was ordered to proceed as fast as possible and headed for land.

SHANTUNG PRICE PAID FOR JAPAN SIGNING THE PACT

Statement Made By Senator Lodge During Debate in the Senate

WARRIS, OF NEBRASKA, ASSERTED THAT A SECRET PACT WAS MADE IN 1917

By the Associated Press

Washington, D. C., July 15.—The Senate today accepted Senator Lodge's resolution asking for information from President Wilson regarding the alleged treaty between Japan and Germany in 1917.

Washington, D. C., July 15.—Senator Norris of Nebraska, Republican, asserted in the Senate today that Japan has secretly secured pledges from Great Britain, France, Italy and Russia early in 1917, that in the event of a settlement, Shantung should be returned to Japan.

Senator Norris produced what he declared to be copies of diplomatic correspondence embodying the British promises. He said that these pledges fully explained the pressure which resulted in Shantung's transfer to Japan under the Versailles treaty, whose ratification by the Senate would write the "blackest page in the nation's history."

He further declared that Great Britain's influence was secured by Japan's support of the British claims to the Pacific Islands south of the equator, while France's aid was purchased by Japan's promise to help draw China into the war so that her coastal ships in Chinese harbors should be available for carrying troops and provisions to Europe.

While declaring that he favored the general idea of the League of Nations, Senator Norris considered that the Versailles treaty contained many objectionable features, and that he would vote in favor of many changes.

Senator Lodge, the Republican leader in the Senate, during the debate, declared that the Shantung settlement was the price paid for Japan's signature to the League of Nations, with the robbing of China as a consideration.

He continued, saying: "Shantung was the price paid, and all the world knows it. There is no statute of limitation that runs against a great wrong like that."

Referring to Germany's secured her Shantung concessions, and also how Japan succeeded Germany by virtue of the war, Senator Lodge asked: "England and France took Belgium from Germany during the war, but does that give them any claim to Belgium? Shantung was not part of the enemy's country, as was Europe, yet it was handed over to the Japanese in spite of the protests of some of our delegates."

"Japan is building up a vast power in China and by supporting her, we are helping her. England stood by and Germany took Belgium and other things from her, and England has paid the bill for those awful mistakes. She has done this at a great cost. There is no power being built up on this side of the Pacific, and we are asked to put our approval at the bottom of that robbing of China by practically handing over to Japan the control of one of the most important provinces at the bottom of the Pacific."

Can the real cause be removed? I can. The Non-Partisan League of North Dakota has removed it as far as that state is concerned, and when the other states wake up and do the same thing the cause will be removed as well as both sides. I W. W. W. single tax, anti-trust and other forms of socialism, which aims to overthrow individual guarantees of life, liberty and property rights, will have been removed."

At this stage of the game, now ever, it is not necessary to go back to the first and second part of the cycle. The cause and effect are already in full operation, and they only need the stimulus of the propagandists to produce another upheaval.

Why have we not had these upheavals in the United States? You may well ask. The answer is: The work of the American home, the woman and home loving mothers who stand between us and socialism.

Take a laxative that does not leave you constipated

Many laxatives contain alcohol though effective in their action, cause constipation and what is still worse, leave the bowels irritated.

The best of all cathartics is the one which nature gave us, that is, the bile, which is a healthy secretion that passes through the intestine and creates the natural movement of the bowels.

In many instances, the healthy flow of bile is impeded through the inactivity of the liver, hence the necessity of Dr. Sanford's Liver Invigorator. This famous remedy, originated by Dr. Sanford in 1814, is purely vegetable and contains no ingredient that is in any way injurious.

As a cathartic, its action is easy, mild and effective, without any of the painful sensations experienced at the use of most purgatives.

It acts as a TONIC, and DOES NOT LEAVE THE BOWELS CONSTIPATED. DR. SANFORD'S LIVER INVIGORATOR is a justly celebrated remedy for Liver Complaints, Rheumatism, Jaundice, Malaria, Indigestion, Constipation, Flatulence, Headache, Thirst, etc.

Take a teaspoonful to bed. Ask your druggist for the "Dr. Sanford's" booklet of full information, or write for it to Sanford, Price Corporation, 1080 Broadway, New York.

PREMIER NITTI SAYS TROOPS ARE WAITING WORD

Have Been Provided With Supplies For Forty-Eight Hours For Emergency

STRIKE DISORDERS CONTINUE

Government Leader Says There Is No Reason For a General Italian Walk Out

TO HOLD BOLSHEVISM DOWN

Italy Never Wanted to Intervene in Russian Situation Because of Lenin's Followers

By the Associated Press

Rome, July 15.—Premier Nitti announced in the Chamber of Deputies that the government had taken ample precautions to preserve order because of the threat of a general strike.

He said that troops had been distributed throughout the country and had been provided with supplies for forty-eight hours in the event of their being cut off from their bases.

By the Associated Press

Rome, July 15.—A general strike occurred in Calabria, Sicily, yesterday when the people paraded the streets, crying "Viva in Soviet." The strikers in foodstuffs and other necessities have been compelled to reduce their prices fifty per cent.

Rome, July 15.—Premier Nitti stated in the Chamber of Deputies that there was no reason for a general strike and that the government of Italy does not want to intervene in the Russian situation where a general strike had occurred and that the government would not be all-wise to send troops to Italy.

In conclusion, he added that Italy never wanted to intervene in Russia because of the presence of Bolshevism there and it was for this same reason that she refrained from intervening in Russia when the country was under the Czar's rule which produced so many crimes and injustices and massacres as the present regime.
